HONGKONG, FEBRUARY 19TH, 1912.

THE announcement that SIR HENRY MAY, K.C.M.G., will be returning to Hongkong as Governor of the Colony has come as a great surprise, chiefly for the reason that it is regarded as quite unprecedented for the Imperial Government to appoint to the Governorship of an important Crown Colony an officer who has spent practically the whole of his career in the service of such Colony. This departure from precedent is all the more marked in that the Governorship of Hongkong is one of the highest paid Crown Colony posts in the patronage of the Colonial Office, and for an officer who commenced his service in the Colony as a cadet to work his way steadily upward to the Governorship is very striking proof of the high value set upon his services by the Colonial Office. While, on general principles, there is much to be said against appointing to the Governorship an officer who has been previously in the Colony as a Civil Servant for any length of time, there is still something to be said in its favour, especially in connection with appointments in the Far East where a knowledge of the language and customs of the countries counts for so much. The Foreign Office recognised this when they appointed Sir Henry May, after a brief period as Minister in a

Morocco, to be H.M.'s Minister in Japan—a country in which he had spent the best part of his career in the Consular and Diplomatic Service and had won distinction as one of the leading authorities on its language and literature. And, again, the Foreign Office recognised the value of local training and experience when it appointed Sir JOHN JORDAN as Minister to Peking. When we mentioned a few days ago the possibility of Sir Henry May's appointment to the Governorship of Hongkong we indicated as the reason which supported the prediction the desirability that there should be someone at the head of affairs possessing an intimate acquaintance with recent developments in the Colony. The Colonial Secretary, who has been barely a month in the Colony, is necessarily lacking in that knowledge, and it is doubtless this consideration which turned the thoughts of the Imperial Government to Sir Henry May, whose knowledge of the affairs of the Colony is unequalled by any one in the service of the Crown. On several occasions he has administered the Government, and when he left the Colony, scarcely thirteen months ago, we were able truthfully to write—

"No Civil Servant has ever left the shores of this Colony with such remarkable manifestations of admiration and esteem as have marked the departure of Sir HENRY MAY. Few Governors indeed, have been more highly honoured. It is the more remarkable when we think of Sir HENRY MAY as (in the words of the Chinese address) a man of austere countenance, sparing of his words, and of his smile, a man to be feared indeed. In the address from the European community there is no mention of the infrequency of his smiles, but when he speaks of him as 'a fearless official—fearless in the discharge of duty—one who never courted favour, and who therefore won respect—an upright public servant—a strong man'—much the same sentiments are represented."

It is as the strong man, the upright, fearless and capable official that he will be welcomed back. It is true that it cannot be said of him that he is persona grata with every one in the Colony; but having regard to all the existing circumstances—in which must be counted the revenue problems which the new Opium Agreement brings in sight, and also the inevitable effect of the disturbed state of the neighbouring provinces upon the affairs of this Colony—the choice is generally regarded as a very happy one. And if the welcome to the new Governor when he arrives in June next will prove a hearty one, it certainly will not be less so in the case of Lady May, who quite makes up for the reputed infrequency of her husband's smiles, and for whom a very warm corner is reserved in the hearts of the entire community—European and Chinese alike.

Owing to the China New Year holidays there will be no issue of the Hongkong Daily Press to-morrow.

The English and French mail of the 20th and 16th January was delivered in London on the 16th February.

H.E. the Governor has been pleased to recognise, provisionally and pending the receipt of His Majesty's exequatur, Mr. Shinoo Imai as Consul General for Japan in Hongkong.

H.E. the Governor has been pleased to appoint Mr. T. F. Claxton to act as Director of the Observatory during the absence on leave of Mr. F. G. Figg, with effect from the 14th inst.

The correct designation of the Military Officer who is in command of all the British and Native troops at present quartered on the Shamenee is—O. C. Troops, British Concession, Shamenee, Canton.

A huge boulder fell in Barker Road, the Peak, a day or two ago carrying away a piece of the roadway and breaking the iron railing. It is supposed to have been dislodged by blasting operations higher up the hillside.

His Majesty the King has not been advised to exercise his power of disallowance with respect to the following Ordinance:—Ordinance No. 45 of 1911, entitled—An Ordinance to amend the Liquors Consolidation Ordinance, 1911.

The following publications have been received and issued to all Staff and Departmental Offices concerned:—Army List, January, 1912; Army Orders, January, 1912; List of Changes in War Materiel, January, 1912; Index Army Orders, 1911; Amendments to Manual of Military Electric Lighting, Vol. II.

Regulations made by the Governor-in-Council relating to the exemption of ships stores from duty, King's warehouses, licensed warehouses, distilleries, exemption from search, substances and quantities to be used for denaturing spirits, breaking down, blending, mixing and bathing, etc., have been revoked, and fresh regulations substituted.

The following details left the Command per R.M.S. Dufferin on 16th inst.:—For Singapore, H.K.S.B. R.G.A., 1 Native N.C.O. For Bombay, H.K.S.B. R.G.A., 1 Native N.C.O. and 1 man; 8th Rajputs, 4 men; 124th Baluchistan Infantry, 2 N.C.O.'s; 126th Baluchistan Infantry, 2 men.

On Saturday night the members of the Kowloon Bowling Club had their third annual dinner at the pavilion. Mr. D. Harvey, the president, was in the chair, and after a good repeat a pleasant evening was spent in song and sentiment.

China New Year was celebrated yesterday, doubtless for the last time. The celebrations took their time honoured form, but it was noticeable that there was a falling off in the enthusiasm with which they were carried out. The cutting of the queue and the gradual disappearance of the Chinese silk costumes has made such a difference that in many ways it was evident that the time honoured festival was drawing to extinction. The most notable feature of yesterday's display was the prominence of the Republican flag.

SIR HENRY MAY.

EXPECTED IN JUNE.

The Secretary of State for the Colonies has notified His Excellency the Governor that His Majesty has been pleased to appoint Sir Henry May Governor of Hongkong, and that he will probably assume office in the latter half of June.

GERMAN ADMIRAL'S OFFICIAL LANDING.

Vice-Admiral von Krosigk, Commander-in-Chief of the German Far Eastern Cruiser Squadron, made his official landing at Blake Pier on Saturday morning. He was welcomed by Captain Taylor, A.D.C., and the German Consul, Dr. E. A. Voretzsch, and a guard of honour consisting of two officers and 30 rank and file of the 8th Rajputs, was drawn up at the pier. The Vice-Admiral landed to the accompaniment of a salute of 15 guns at Kowloon battery. He inspected the guard of honour, the regimental band meanwhile playing the German National Anthem. He subsequently proceeded to Government House, where he was received by His Excellency the Governor.

COMPLIMENTARY LUNCHEON.

On Saturday, Mr. Johannes von Reigen, the superintendent engineer of the Norddeutscher Lloyd, was entertained by his professional colleagues to a complimentary luncheon at the Hongkong Hotel. Mr. J. Lambert, Lloyd's surveyor, presided over a large attendance, which included:—R. M. Dyer, W. Jolly, J. W. Graham, T. Neave, A. Nicholson, G. A. Caldwell, J. Reid, K. E. Greig, J. Chapman, Capt. Douglas, Capt. Arthur, J. Lambert, D. Macdonald, T. H. G. Brayfield, J. B. Thompson, H. T. Thompson, H. T. Richardson, A. Sinclair, R. Hunter, Jas. Macdonald, W. Russell, R. Hall, J. Fasse, Van Minus, G. Harman, J. P. Ulderup, C. Schuler, J. F. Miller, J. Martin, John Lennox, C. Witzke, K. Kageyama, H. Jensen, J. Ormiston, Capt. Hermerling, Dr. Voretzsch, F. Ritter, T. E. S. Robson, Beilken, A. Lamperski, and G. Friesland.

Afteriffin the Chairman said:—Gentlemen,—"We are assembled here to-day to honour one of our professional colleagues who is about to leave our shores on a well-earned holiday in the fatherland. No words of mine are necessary to commend the toast of our friend and colleague, Mr. von Reigen, to your notice. He is familiar to most of us, has worked among us for years, and leaves Hongkong for a time with our sincerest good wishes for a pleasant holiday and a safe return to the scene of his former labours. We can all appreciate the responsibilities attached to such an important post as he holds in the N.D.L., and the fact that he occupies such an important position is conclusive proof of his ability as a superintendent engineer. I do not desire to indulge in fulsome adulation of the man, but I believe all of you will agree with me that we can testify not only to his ability but also to his impartiality in all matters. He is always available with counsel and advice, and many of us can speak in nothing but laudatory terms of his geniality at all times. He has rendered good service to the profession in many directions, and it is fitting on an occasion like this, when one of our leading men leaves for home, that we should gather round and in honouring him honour ourselves and our profession. We wish him and his family bon voyage. We wish him union in his native land be a happy one, and welcome on his return here, he may rest assured, will be as sincere and hearty as his departure now. Gentlemen, I submit the toast of our Guest."

Mr. von Reigen, in reply, thanked the company for the great honour they had shown him in attending in such large numbers, and thanked the Chairman for his kind remarks.

BRITISH LABOUR CRISIS.

A GRAVE SITUATION.

LONDON, February 17th.

The South Wales Coal Conciliation Board, on the casting vote of the independent chairman, Viscount St. Aldwyn, granted the miners a general increase of wages. The owners have intimated their willingness to discuss the crisis, but cannot grant a minimum wage. The last batch of miners' notices handed in to-day show undoubtedly that every district is in favour of a strike. The situation is most serious, and British trade is threatened with disaster, the full extent of which cannot be realized, as such a dislocation as will occur has hitherto not been known.

People of all shades of opinion insist that the Government should take action to avert a strike, which is due in a fortnight.

LONDON, February 18th.

After Viscount St. Aldwyn's decision was announced, the men offered to meet the owners and discuss the minimum wage question. The owners refused and the men replied that events must take their course.

The situation in the coal mining industry is gloomier. The differences between masters and men in the Welsh, English and Scottish districts have not been ameliorated by last night's and to-day's meetings.

It is pointed out that a strike will give a big filip to the export of coal from South Africa as well as from India, Egypt, West Africa and even South America.

It is now almost impossible to insure against a strike, as Lloyds are charging 90 guineas per cent.

A Berlin wire states that the anxiety regarding a prospective strike at Essen is spreading throughout Germany. Three miners' unions have demanded an increase in wages owing to the higher cost of living.

A DELICATE POSITION.

Various State departments were in communication yesterday regarding a suitable form of intervention in the coal dispute. The position is most delicate, owing to long standing ill-feeling between masters and men and the obstinacy of both sides. It is expected that Mr. Asquith will make an announcement on Monday.

ANGLO-GERMAN RELATIONS.

SPEECH BY SIR EDWARD GREY.

LONDON, February 18th.

Sir Edward Grey, speaking at Manchester, pointed out that the language used by Mr. Asquith was reciprocated in the same tone in Berlin. In both speeches there was considerable reserve and reticence, and he, Sir Edward, must observe the same restraint. That, however, would not imply any lack of cordiality. He trusted that something had been achieved which would remain permanent, and which would dispel some of the mists of suspicion and distrust due to unfounded rumours. Great Britain and Germany were great industrial nations, and in the interests of the people there must be peace. He had no fear of any permanent estrangement in the public opinion of the two countries, providing the truth got a fair chance. Mr. Asquith, he said, disposed of one great untruth, and that was that Great Britain last year meditated an unprovoked attack on Germany. There was never the least foundation for such a suspicion. There was nothing in the movements of our ships, nothing in anything we did to warrant the belief that we ever thought of being ourselves the first to break the peace, or encouraging or provoking anyone else to break it, and if the mephitic vapours generated by such rumours were dissipated, he trusted there would be no future occasion for suspicion, distrust, or diplomatic tension.

Sir Edward afterwards referred to the Persian trouble, declaring that Great Britain would have been infinitely worse off but for the Anglo-Russian agreement and adding:—"The Government is the trustee for the people, to see that the power to defend itself against possible danger is properly preserved. Our people's interest is peace and we also have to see expressed in our policy the wish of the people that we should not be aggressive ourselves."

He added that the probability of a universal coal strike is the most serious question in the minds of everybody in the country, and if the strike is proceeded to the worst consequences, none could say how much of the national prosperity might be recovered.

A SPEECH BY LORD HALDANE.

Lord Haldane, in a speech at Leeds, said he had cause to be thankful for a cosmopolitan university education. When he went to Berlin and met men of the highest standing, that training enabled him to enter into conversations of a highly miscellaneous character, and to see things through German spectacles and to realize how matters struck them.

The Frankfurter Zeitung states that negotiations between London and Berlin continue, personally conducted by Dr. Von Bethmann Hollweg.

CIVIL SERVICE APPOINTMENTS.

LONDON, February 18th.

Lord Selbourne, speaking at Cambridge, said a system of spoils would be inevitable as a result of appointments to the Civil Service by Ministers' direct. The honours of such men as Mr. Burt and Mr. Lionel Phillips were due to merit in the public service, but to-day the party machine was doing its utmost to prostitute the honour for their own purposes. He hoped, for the sake of the country, that the Liberals would no longer dabble in dirt. The Unionists must do their utmost to cleanse their own party of this corruption.

The weather was beautiful when the Marylebone team continued their first innings against New South Wales. The attendance was fair and the wicket excellent. Marylebone totalled 315. Rhodes scored a sound 119, the score occupying 208 minutes. He hit twelve fours. Hazlett took seven wickets for 95.

New South Wales, in their second innings lost one wicket for 93. Trumper being responsible for a brilliant 53. Stumps were drawn early owing to rain.

It is understood that Count Berchold, the ex-Ambassador at St. Petersburg, will succeed him. Count Berchold was prominent in entertaining Grand Duke Andrew recently.

Emperor Franz Joseph, in accepting Count Aehrenthal's resignation, bestowed on him the Grand Cross of St. Stephen, set with brilliants, in token of perpetual affection. It is believed that Count Berchold's appointment will mean a rapprochement with Russia.

The death is announced of Count Aehrenthal.

AVIATOR KILLED.

LONDON, February 18th.

Graham Gilmour, the aviator, has been killed while flying at Deer-Park, Richmond. His machine buckled.

Gilmour started from Brooklands on a new Raby aeroplane. He fell four hundred feet and was killed instantly. Experts deduce from the evidence of eye witnesses, that he flew into a vacuum.

LONDON, February 18th.

President Taft has approved of Adjutant-General Ainsworth's application to retire, as he is unable to face a court-martial.

PARIS LETTER.

PARIS, JANUARY 12.

THE POLITICAL CRISIS.

The downfall of the Caillaux Ministry was but a question of time; its end came about with more dramatic suddenness than was expected. After M. de Selves, the French Foreign Minister, resigning, Premier Caillaux could no longer remain in office. M. Clemenceau has frequently been described as the "Wrecker of Cabinets," and sure enough the present crisis has been brought about by him. Mr. Georges Clemenceau was responsible last Tuesday for a dramatic incident at the sitting of the Senatorial Commission which was considering the Franco-German agreement. Ex-Premier Caillaux, who was anything but popular with the masses, made a lengthy statement in answer to the suggestions which have been made of "secret" negotiations between Paris and Berlin, and sought to show he had not, on his own personal initiative, influenced the pourparlers. Following this statement, M. Pichon and M. Clemenceau both questioned Mr. de Selves as to whether M. Cambon, the French Ambassador in Berlin, had been kept informed of all that was passing between the two capitals. "I cannot answer that question," replied M. de Selves. There was a moment's silence, and then M. Clemenceau passionately exclaimed: "You can give the negative reply to anyone but me, but not to me." M. de Selves, after showing some hesitation, said: "I cannot answer, because I find myself faced by two obligations—the obligation to tell the truth and the obligation to uphold Ministerial solidarity." The effect of this remark was such that M. Clemenceau thought it advisable to adjourn the Commission. M. de Selves, after stating that he had only considered the interests of France, gave a denial to the declarations of M. Caillaux. M. de Selves who has bid us "Adieu," is the Minister who was chiefly responsible for the conduct of the long and difficult negotiations with Germany on the question of Morocco. Though it had been rumoured before that M. de Selves would retire from the Cabinet, such a speedy confirmation was not anticipated, and it is probable that had it not been for the sharp difference between the Foreign Minister and the Premier, M. Caillaux, the crisis would not have been precipitated. It would be difficult to find another country where political events move with greater swiftness than in France.

The situation is looked upon as very serious, and so far the much worried President of the Republic had not yet succeeded in securing a new Premier. Last Wednesday, M. Delcassé had accepted the vacant post at the Foreign Office, but no one could be found to succeed him at the Admiralty. Among those mentioned for the post of Premier are Messieurs Leon Bourgeois, Delcassé, Poincaré, Millerand, Briand, Clemenceau, Gaston Doumergue, and Jean Duguesle—all able and well-tried men. Although ill-health has prevented M. Bourgeois, Delcassé, Poincaré, and Millerand, to form a Cabinet and to call at the Elysée, it is believed that he will accept the Presidency of the Council without a portfolio. Either M. de Selves could have revealed secrets about Germany and remained in office, or declined to utter a word under that heading. He chose the latter course as it was a point of honour, and he was driven to resign. M. de Selves' position had become unbearable; he could no longer assume responsibility for foreign policy in which unity of views and unity of combined action were wanting. The whole affair is a grave political scandal for France. "Six months' office is a fair average for French Premier-ship under the Third Republic. Ex-Premier Caillaux has had a good spell of office taken altogether. It was in 1899 that he first accepted the portfolio of Finance, and as a member of the Waldeck-Rousseau Ministry, helped to save the Republic. Later he was Finance Minister under M. Clemenceau, but did not get on well with his chief, who, as we have seen, repaid a few days ago old scores with interest. M. Briand decided that he could not work with him, and M. Caillaux played a part in the intrigues which accelerated M. Briand's fall.

A few French Press opinions on the crisis. Le Figaro says:—"In M. Caillaux's immediate entourage, less indignation is felt at the actions of M. de Selves than at his former attitude. He was guilty of grievous indiscretions and of betraying secrets to M. Clemenceau. M. Caillaux is also surprised that the members of the Senate Committee which were meant to be kept 'secret.' Le Matin declares that the Premier at his interview with M. de Selves and M. Clemenceau last Tuesday protested energetically against the campaign of baseness and calumny that, he said, had been carried on against him. He reproached M. de Selves with never having spoken to him since July of the facts alleged against him. "M. de Selves admitted that he ought to have done so, but said he did not dare, so painful had been his position. The Premier also reproached M. Clemenceau with having judged him on the strength of reports of which he had not spoken to him. Le Petit Journal reports that M. de Selves on returning to the Quai d'Orsay last Tuesday declared openly that for six months past he had been tired of being associated with a man who had never ceased to thwart his patriotic projects. According to L'Echo, M. de Selves had previously remarked: "I know that they wish to make me resign in the Chamber by interpellation. I shall not resign, because important documents would be shut up for ever in dispatch-boxes, from which they would never again be taken."

The New Year has begun very badly, from a political point of view alone, for France. The present situation—first the crisis and then the fall of the Caillaux Ministry—is a crisis at this particular time is a difficult affair, and it would certainly be foolish to minimise its gravity. Meanwhile France must find and construct a new Ministry as quickly as possible; as to France's two strongest men of the hour—M. Clemenceau and M. Delcassé—they will stand shoulder to shoulder. M. Caillaux's behaviour during the past eight or nine months does not reflect favourably upon himself or his country. For his conduct in carrying on negotiations behind the back of his chief, M. Clemenceau, there is the excuse that M. Clemenceau knew nothing of affairs and had been fettered from his counting-house to act as a scape-goat. Even so M. Caillaux's procedure both before and after his accession to the Premier'ship was not loyal as Englishmen understand political loyalty. The whole story, one narrative was not complete.

regrets to say, illustrates the weakness of the Third Republic. Its chosen representatives, who have recently voted themselves a substantial increase of salary, bring with them the love of scandal. There is an absence of the big ideas which hold politicians together and at moments of crisis make a party something more than the sum of its members' qualities. Corruption which consists in putting self-advancement before the State's interests is common in French politics, and in this sense M. Caillaux was a corrupt politician. The one pleasant feature about the situation is that public indignation has been aroused. Events of the last few months have no doubt shown that a Clemenceau-Briand bloc would provide the most stable Government. The next Cabinet will find itself in a position to return to the Gambetta tradition of suspicion of Germany. Towards the end of last year three Foreign Ministers gave their respective accounts of the Moroccan negotiations. By putting their speeches together the public found itself in possession of a connected, and as it seemed, complete narrative. We now know that the narrative was not complete.
